Aplying a logistic model to both datasets nts the decision area of the model. Purple line represents the decision border. Visually is possible to conclude that the logistic model fits better a linear frontier while struggling when